IDC Government Insights: China Smart Cities Digital Strategies

China Smart City market size is now large, and the development trend will be accelerated by China government from these years according to series policies. Customers need to know not only the whole Smart City market size and development status and trend analysis but also some detailed information in submarket.

Approach

This program will have an analysis focusing on China Smart City market based on specific use cases.

Topics Addressed

Throughout the year, this service will address the following topics:

- China V2X Market
- China Intelligent Transportation Management Market
- China Smart Emergency Management Market
- China City-Level Intelligent and Big Data Platform Market
- China High-Definition Map Solution Market
- China GIS Solution Market
- China Remote Sensing Data Processing Market
- China Smart City Market Development Status and Trend

Key Questions Answered

Our research addresses the following issues that are critical to your success:

1. What are the characteristics of successful IT vendors and Smart City–focused ISVs in China?
2. What are the latest trends in China Smart City IT usage and adoption?
3. Which policies are shaping Smart City IT spending?
4. How to build up an owned digital ecosystem?
5. Which innovative technology initiatives are causing significant shifts in the ways local and regional government conduct business in Smart City project?

Who Should Subscribe

SIs, ISVs, IT infrastructure suppliers, platform service and software suppliers, AI tech suppliers, IT security suppliers, government ICT and business planners and departments, and investment institutions.