

IDC Government Insights: Americas Government Industry Intelligence

IDC Government Insights: Americas Government Industry Intelligence provides technology vendors with an Americas government market perspective, looking at industry subsegments, core processes, and technology categories. This service provides actionable information to Americas marketers, sales leaders and professionals, product managers, market intelligence, and channels managers to accelerate and simplify their jobs, sharing detailed data on industry trends, buying behavior, industry personas, and market sizing.

APPROACH

This advisory service provides a view on the Americas government industry and its subsegments, providing technology suppliers with actionable information on current and future technology purchasing behavior through IDC's proprietary data and analysis.

The service enables subscribers to assess American market opportunities accurately and better understand their potential prospects by analyzing ICT buyers, both IT and line of business. Research from the service will provide insights into their varying priorities, considering process improvement drivers and their linkage to technology while offering useful guidance to build sales messages and go-to-market initiatives for digital technology providers.

TOPICS ADDRESSED

Throughout the year, this service will address tech suppliers' needs in the Americas region, including:

- Evaluating the government technology market opportunity in the Americas region
 - Understanding the government sector buyers and their priorities in the Americas region
 - Preparing a focused go-to-market approach for the Americas region
 - Refining regionally relevant sales messages
-

KEY QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Our research addresses the following issues that are critical to your success in the American market:

1. How much will the government in Americas spend in ICT today and in the future?
 2. What are the key business drivers in Americas across key government processes?
 3. What technologies are government companies in Americas investing in today? And what are the differences across government subindustries in Americas?
 4. What are the key business priorities for tech buyers in the Americas government sector, and how does that influence their technology purchasing patterns? How can you map sales opportunities against those business issues?
 5. Who are the key personas to address in the government sector, and what are their key concerns?
 6. How can I have more relevant and timely conversations with my key customers and prospects in this sector in the Americas region?
 7. How can I stay on top of the issues that matter to government executives and their challenges, roles, and issues?
-

WHO SHOULD SUBSCRIBE

The service provides actionable industry insights and guidance to key IT vendor decision makers operating or planning to enter into the American government market:

- Americas marketers (field marketers and regional CMOs)
- Americas sales leaders and professionals
- Americas product managers (tech domain leads)
- Americas market intelligence and research
- Americas channels managers (alliances and distribution channels/partners)